

Celebrating 100 Years

In 2007, the American Concrete Pipe Association will celebrate 100 years of service. We are proud of this accomplishment and hope that all of you are as well, since without your help, we could not have accomplished this goal.

In preparation for our centennial anniversary, we would like to ask for your help. We would like you to share any experiences as a pipe producer with the industry. These stories can be funny, endearing, or practical. Producers and Associates alike, this is your chance to chronicle our industry's past. We would also like to collect old photographs of the industry over the last 50 years. Please share your experiences and help us collect our 100 year history by completing the survey. Please submit any photos with a description that we might use in the anniversary book.
